REPORTS OF DEPARTMENT WORKSHOP AND SYMPOSIA

1) Report on “Founder’s Day-International Interdisciplinary Symposium on Blue-Economy versus Blue-Water economy”

The one-day International Interdisciplinary Symposium was organized by Department of Biological Sciences, KIHE Society’s, Maharashtra College of Arts, Science and Commerce in collaboration with Sindhu Swadyay Sanstha (SSS), University of Mumbai, Mumbai, on occasion of the Founder’s Day on 7th January 2019. The program was conducted under the guidance of the Shri. Vinayak V. Dalvie (Co-ordinator, SSS) and Capt. Dr. Akbar A. Dalvi (Head, Department of Zoology) and Dr. A. Q. Ansari (Vice-Principal and Head, Department of Botany). Staff members from Botany and Zoology department worked as organizing committee members for the said program. The main goal of the program to sensitize the students from various disciplines such as botany, zoology, economics, geography, fishery, earth sciences, management to pursue a carrier in blue economy and allied field. Moreover, in order to promote research in the above-mentioned fields and to shed light on carrier opportunities in this field.

The guest speaker for the symposium was Prof. V.N Attri, Chair in Indian Ocean Studies (CIOS) at the IORA Secretariat, University of Mauritius. Prof. V. N. Attri has occupied the position of Chair in Indian Ocean Studies (CIOS), Indian Ocean Rim Association (IORA) since November 2014. His duties are to foster research activities and studies in fields of interest to IORA with a view to evolving realistic programs of regional cooperation. The areas of study are Marine Resources, Trade and Commerce, Trade Liberalization, Trade and Investment Facilitation, Sustainable Development, Science and Technology, and the Blue Economy. Prof Attri has, therefore, been contributing to all the six priority areas and two cross-cutting focus areas of IORA.

The Program started at 2.30 pm and completed at 4.30 pm. The symposium was inaugurated by reciting the Holy-Quran, followed by the inaugural address by Dr. U. R. Singh, Assi. Prof. in Zoology. Welcome speech was delivered by the Dr. A. Q. Ansari, Vice-Principal and Head, Department of Botany. He emphasizes on the need of such kind symposiums for the up-gradation of the students’ knowledge and career advancement. This was followed by the felicitation of the guest speaker and dignitaries by the hands of Prof. Dr. Haji Kalaniya (General Secretary, KIHE Society) with a shawl and bouquet. This was followed by the talk by Dr. V. N. Magre, Principal, Kirti College & Pro-Vice Chancellor, SNTD university. Following felicitation, Shri. Vinayak V. Dalvie, Coordinator of SSS, University of Mumbai delivered a speech and especially focused on the active role of SSS is in value education in rural students, providing education without any fees, and promoting rural talent for research. Prof. Dr. Haji Kalaniya (General Secretary, KIHE Society) reminded the contribution of founders in setting and shaping this institute.

Following the inaugural session, Prof. B. G. Kulkarni, Ex-BOS Chairman, Ex-Director, Institute of Science, Guest faculty at University of Mauritius, the participants were introduced to the guest speaker and also explained how IORA is contributing towards the economic growth of the participating nations.

This was followed by the Guest speaker, Prof. V. N. Attri. He started the lecture by explaining the structure of the IORA, functioning of IORA and participating countries. He also explained that how several countries are trying very hard so as to get the highest economic benefits from the ocean resources. He further stressed on the active participation of youth, especially in the research related to the Blue-economy and sustainable development. At the end of the talk the interaction with the audience was quite fruitful.

More than 27 faculty from other nearby colleges participated in the said program. Almost all (45) faculties from Maharashtra College participated in the said program. In total, 84 students from Maharashtra College and other institutes such as Mithibai College, Kelkar College, M.D. College, from various departments such as zoology, botany, economics and other disciplines participated. Students were either undergraduate or postgraduate level. The smooth conduction of programs required helping hands, which is provided by NCC cadets and NSS volunteers. 17 NCC cadets from Maharashtra College, 5 from Rizwi College and 25 NSS volunteers participated in the program.

A formal closing session was conducted by Capt. Dr. Akbar A. Dalvi by delivering the vote of thanks. The program ended with the National Anthem followed by refreshment and certificate distribution. The entire program was completed under the Convener ship of Capt. Dr. Akbar A. Dalvi and vitally important inputs from Dr. A. Q. Ansari. Dr. Ugeshkumari Singh worked as an anchor-person. Dr. Arshad Ali Haider and Dr. ZeenatSurve were allotted the registration, certificate preparation, distribution, and refreshment responsibility. Dr. Rafi Ahmed, Dr. Zafar Khan, Dr. Moinuddin Vakil, Dr. Wahida Rehman, Dr. Shoyeb Shaikh and Mr. SachinGosavi provided logistic support for the entire program.
